NOTHING WONDERFUL BY THE WIRES.

The House Talks About Cattle Disease---Secretary of the Navy on Yellow Fever.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 12, 1879.—After a long debate upon an amendment increasing appropriations for eradicating cattle disease the whole subject was stricken from the bill, and a proposition was agreed to recommend to the House that it refer the whole matter to the Committee on Agriculture, with instructions to report promptly thereon. On motion, Haskell, of Kansas, was appointed for investigating habits of the cotton-worm and other injurious insects, was placed under control of the United States Entomological Commission. The political portion of the bill having been reached it was passed over for the present.

Young, of Tenn., offered an amendment providing that the investigating agents under the Southern Claims Commission, shall give notice to the claims whose claims it is proposed to investigate, of place and time of taking testimony, who shall have the right to cross examine witnesses. The agent is also to examine any witnesses who may be presented by claimants.

Hauk, of Tennessee, stated that he had acted as investigating agent, and knew of instances where he had been misled by ex parte statements, and had reported against claims which should have been allowed.

Bragg, of Wisconsin, moved to strike out all provisions for Southern Claims Commission, and to insert a clause repealing the law creating that Commission.

Consideration of the amendment was postponed until Tuesday,

The Committee arose, and the Chairman reported back the recommendation to refer the paragraph in relation to pleuro pneumonia in cattle to the Committee on Agriculture, with instructions to report forthwith. Which was agreed to, and the House adjourned until Monday.

Investigate John Sherman.

Washington Post.

John Sherman's reputation as a statesman rests wholly upon his supposed financial ability, yet it would not be difficult to show that if he had been doing business for himself instead of the Government he would long since have joined the great army of bankrupts. Mr. Sherman's dealings with favorite banks have already cost the Government over a million dollars, which an abler and more honest financier would have saved. And now there comes to light another of his peculiar 'blunders,' whereby the Government is subjected to still further loss.

Last January Mr. Sherman made a contract with the London syndicate, which gave them an option to subscribe for $5,000,000 of five-twenties for May and June. Then, in violation of this contract, he received subscriptions on April 1 for the entire balance of five-twenties from other sources, and declared the account closed. Not so the syndicate, who now demand their rights. In order to satisfy this demand and atone for his blunder, John has been compelled to begin the refunding of the ten-forties and to give the syndicate better terms on them than the state of the market calls for. The loss, of course, falls on the Government.

Just how long Mr. Sherman imagines the country is going to sit unmoved and witness these expensive experiments we are not informed. It is, however, becoming more and more evident to our mind with each successive day's developments that a Congressional investigation into the affairs of the Treasury is imperatively demanded. Not one after the Glover order, but a thorough overhauling of the whole concern by competent and reliable men. John Sherman's well-known character and general method of managing things furnishes sufficient reason for the belief that the wrong doings which, from time to time, crop out of his department, are only a small portion of those which actually exist. Like a floating iceberg, whose bulk is under water, the worst of John Sherman's abuses of power probably appear only under the surface. And that is just where a Congressional committee should seek them, and prosecute the search until the truth is known.

A Creditable Spring Dress.

The Raleigh NEWS has come out in a very beautiful and creditable spring dress. It presents a fine appearance, and contains a large amount of valuable and interesting reading. Messrs. Hussey and Jordan have greatly improved the paper, and we wish them abundant success.

An Inspired Orator.

On a certain occasion Prentiss visited Boston and addressed its citizens at Fanueil Hall. A Gentleman who heard him, then a venerable judge, told the anecdote illustrating the orator'spower. Unable to procurea seat, he stood jammed by the crowd. As Mr. Prentiss began to speak the gentleman took out his watch to time him. As he was replacing it in his fob something in the orator's manner and word attracted his attention. He found it impossible to take away his eyes orears. He forgot the presence of the crowd, his own fatigue, the passage of time, everything but the speaker. Mr. Prentiss seemed fatigued. So intense was the sympathy of the venerable man with him, that he found himself breathing rapidly and painfully. At last the orator, exclaiming, "My powers fail!" sank exhausted into a chair. Not till then did the aged listener discover that his hands were still holding his watch at the opening of his pocket. He looked at it. He had stood in that crowd listening for three hours and fifteen minutes. Near him stood an aged minister, who, tremulous and excited,exclaimed,"Will any one ever doubt again that God inspires man;"

As Senator Vance Puts It.

Washington correspondence of the Cincinnati Enquirer.

"The common sense of the people will teach them that the man who stops the wheels of Government is the man who stops the wheels of Government. In other words, if Congress votes the necessary supplies and the President vetoes the bill furnishing the supplies, the people are going to say that the President is the man who stops these supplies. I know they tell us that the Republican orators on the stump will show the people that it is Congress who stop the supplies, and not the President. But if our orators on the stump can't show the people that it is the President who stops the wheels of Government, and not Congress, we had better put up the shutters, go home, and let some one run the party who knows how." "You think, then, Senator, that the people will be made to see that the President and not Congress is responsible?" "They will see it without making them. Their good sense will show it to them. All that will be necessary will be to state the case. As I said before, the man who stops the wheels of Government is the man who stops them, and not somebody else who does something which he does not like."

CURRENT OPINION.

A Stiffener for Hayes' Backbone.

New Orleans Dem. 9th.

Hayes' backbone was a little stiffer yesterday. Jacobs managed to pull through in Cincinnati. It was a close shave, though.

Enough of the Bayonet Rule.

Courier Journal.

Everybody understands what "keeping the peace at the polls" by bayonets means. It is an easy step from that practice to bayonet interference anywhere. We have had enough of this bayonet party in American politics and in '80 it must go, or the republic will go.

We Don't Believe it is New.

Louisvill Courier Journal.

The Republicans tell us that the bayonet is essential to the "protection of the ballot" in this country. If the country has really fallen into such a deplorable condition the Republicans are solely responsible for it, for the bayonet was never a necessary appendage of elections when the Democratic party was in power. We do not believe it is now.

Three Weeks of the Rebellion.

Courier Journal.

Three weeks of the new "Democratic rebellion" have passed and the Republic has not gone to pieces. John Sherman has sold more bonds since the "rebellion" commenced than were ever sold in the same period.

Philanthropy for the Negro.

COLONIZING THE NEGROES.

The Author of a Bold Political Scheme Announces Himself.

Wash. Post.

The Post was introduced, at Willards hotel last night, to Col. Hooker, the origira or of the scheme to import into Ohio, New York and Indiana negro votes enough to carry those states for the Republicans in 1880.

"Do you mean to try the plan?" asked The Post.

"It is possible," he replied, "and is economical. It would cost less to take that many negroes into these states than would bespent in the campaign on the old plan. Then it wonld be dead sure; there's no doubt about it, while the old plan of canvassing might lose."

"But would'nt more white voters desert your party than you got negroes?"

"But guess not; I don't see why they should. The Republican party claims to have given the negro his freedom, and I hold it ought to take care of him to see that he enjoys his freedom and his ballot. All the money necessary to carry out my plan could be raised without any trouble. We could send men into South and let them advertise for negro voters to go North, and agree to pay their expenses and keep them till they could get work, I would do the thing openingly and boldly; make no secret about it. Let an immigration society, composed of leading Republicans, be organized in all the towns of the states named, and they could receive the negroes and parcel them out among the farmers and others, where they could get work. I believe they could make a living this summer. Zach Chandler says he would take a hundred negroes on his place."

"Has your plan been endorsed by the leading Republicans here?"

"I have'nt formally submitted it to them yet. I was explaining it to some gentlemen here at the hotel other night and I suppose some newspaperman was standing near, as it came out in the papers next day."

"Is that the business you are here upon, colonel?"

"Oh, no. I am in business in New York. But I believe the plan could be successfully carried out, and elect the Republican ticket in 1880 beyond a doubt. It would have to be hurried up though, as you know the negroes must be located this fall, in order to have the right to vote next year. The time is short.

HANGED AT LAST.

A MAN WHO WAS THRICE REPRIEVED.

Saved While on the Way to the Gallows, Only to be Executed at Last ---One of the Most Remarkable Cases in the Criminal History of the Country.

John P. Phair was hanged in the prison yard at Windsor, Vermont, on Friday, for the murder of Mrs. Ann Frieze, in June 1874.

This case is a most singular one. For nearly five years has Joan P. Phair been in jail, and there is not a man woman or child in New England who is not familiar with his story. Three times has he been respited, twice when upon the brink of the grave. He was charged with the murder of Mrs. Ann Frieze, a woman of questionable repute, residing alone in the outskirts of Rutland, with whom he was known to have been intimate. Shortly before 7 o'clock on the morning of June 9, 1874, her house was discovered to be on fire. The front door was broken in and the fireman, upon going up stairs, found the chamber doors locked. Before they could break into Mrs. Frieze's room the smoke drove them below. A ladder was procured and the men, looking into her window, discovered the woman lying upon a bed. Almost simultaneously with this the floor fell. The body was fished out from the ruins. The arms and lower limbs were burned to a crisp, but the throat had been cut from ear to ear and several deep stabs told how death had been brought about. A horrible murder had been committed and the house set on fire to cover up all traces. Phair was immediately suspected as the murderer. Mrs. Frieze always kept considerable money about her and robbery was fixed upon as the motive. The officers began to look around for the suspected man, but on the morning of the fire he had taken the 4 o'clock train for Boston. Two days later he was discovered retracing his steps to Rutland, and, while on the train, was arrested. He stoutly denied the charges, and told the officers that he had been to Boston, and then to Providence, to seek employment, but was unsuccessful.

COMPLETE CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE.

An investigation at Boston was instituted. A man answering to Phair's description had registered at the Adams House as "E. F. Smith, St. Albans, Vt." and remained there during the nights of June 9 and 10. A shawl which had been worn by the murdered woman was found in this man's room, and at the pawn shops the same name as appeared on the hotel register, and in the same handwriting, was discovered on the books. Various articles belonging to the murdered woman had been realized on by Smith, whoever he was. At the trial these points were brought out, and Phair was identified by the pawnbrokers as the man who gave the name of Smith. The chain of circumstantial evidence seems to be complete, and he was sentenced to be hanged April 6th, 1877. Every effort to save him was made, but to no purpose. Phair gave up all hope and a few days before the date fixed for executive began to prepare a dying statement. In it he reviewed the case thoroughly and closed in this manner.

And to Almighty God, the maker of heaven and earth, who knoweth the secrets of all hearts, do I now most solemnly appeal in this the hour of my extremity to hear me and bear witness to the truth that I am innocent of the crime which I stand convicted: and as I am innocent or guilty, so may He deal with my soul in the day of judgment and eternity.

NOT A MOMENT TOO SOON.

Phair insisted on that this should not be published until after his death, "for," he said, "if it is published now people will only say I did it to create sympathy." After much coaxing he consented to allow its publication in Boston the morning set for the execution, having been assured that the statement could not possibly reach Windsor until after his death. It was this decision that saved his life.

The Governor consented to reprieve him for a week.

MORE REPRIEVES.

With Phair's reprieve petitions began pouring in for a new trial. The Governor was impressed with the nature of the evidence, and before the week had expired a new reprieve was granted. The date for execution was fixed for April 4, 1879, or Friday of last week. The prisoner having been convicted and sentenced and ordered to be executed, the Court could not grant a new trial. The Legislature gave a hearing in the case, but the result was not favorable to Phair, as the evidence for the government appeared more positive than it was at the time of trial. The prisoner's counsel did the very best to get around the death sentence. They even attacked the legality of the death warrant and applied for an injunction. It was overruled, however, and the very last hope seemed to have faded away when Browningagain came to the rescue. He visited Phair in his prison cell and positively identified him. This was on Wednesday of last week. The following day he went before Governor Proctor and asked for a reprieve. The request was granted, and again Phair was on the very eve of execution he was respited. The petition for a new trial on the strength of this evidence of Downing's was heard on Tuesday and yesterday. As careful a hearing as possible in two days was given, and yesterday afternoon the petition was denied, and the decree went forth that Phair must hang. Phair's counsel were again before Governor Proctor and asked for further reprieve so as to allow a session of the Legislature to intervene before the execution, but at half-past 12 the Governor denied the petition.

THE NEGRO STAMPEDE.

Gotham's Advice to the Colored Men to Flee from Bondage.

There was one sentiment only in the large meeting of colored men held in the Bleecker Street Colored Church Friday night, and that was the best interests of the colored man of the South called for his emigration to Kansas or the West. Several colored clergymen, actively engaged in the movement, not only addressed the meeting, but talked with the persons present. A letter from Henry Highland Garnett, who was absent, lecturing, was read, in which he said he was heart and soul in the movement and wished to do all in his power to help it along. He considered it the most important step the colored man had taken for many a year. His advice to the men in the South was to free themselves from bondage by going to the West. The Rev. W. F. Dickerson made a passionate speech denouncing the whites "The bloodhounds are after you," he shouted. "Once more the negroes are called to work against slavery." His speech was an appeal to colored men to and their Southern brethren to escape to the West.

A NOTABLE WOMAN.

A TALK WITH MRS. JEFFERSON DAVIS.

The Impression She made upon a Boston Reporter---Mrs. Davis' Opinion upon Many Questions set Forth---A Lady of Royal Mind and Noble Impulses, Etc.

Boston Herald.

Your correspondent closed his account of an interview with Mr. Jefferson Davis, published in the Herald last Sunday, with the statement that Mr. Davis, with a cordial grasp of the hand, bade him good-night, and returned to the ladies' saloon, where his wife awaited his coming. In a few minutes Mr. Davis returned and said: "Mr. G., I have been speaking with Mrs. Davis of our interview, and as you know many old friends of hers, she desires an introduction." Accordingly I walked with him to the ladies' cabin, and was there introduced to the wife of the ex-president of the confederate states. I should judge that Mrs. D. is some years the junior of her husband, and that intellectually she is a very superior woman. She was dressed in plain black, without any display of jewelry, and had a most prepossessing, matronly appearance. After being introduced to her Mr. Davis retired and your correspondent was favored with an interview of an hour and a half duration, much of which was occupied in conversation about her old friends and acquaintances in the north who were well known to me. Mrs. Davis appears to be a woman of refinement, having many accomplishmets and a correct literary taste, which enables her to discuss with ease and fluency all the scientific belles-letters topics of the day. She seemed to have a thorough knowledge of the French language, and to be quite familiar with French books and authors, from Mme. De Stael to the last volume of Victor Hugo.

After indulging in some reminiscences of her life in Washington prior to the rebellion, and reviving pleasant memories of her old friends in the northern states, who were friends of mine, Mrs. Davis discussed with me the political and social topics of the time. Upon the negro question she had very decided opinions, and spoke far more hopefully of the present situation than did her husband. She cordially believes in the education of the black race, and though the increased signs of intelligence and self-reliance among them as the result of what little schooling they had obtained. She thought education was absolutely indispensable to them in order to protect themselves from the imposition of the whites, who were now no longer, as in times past, their natural protectors, but were so placed as to be constantly tempted to take advantage of their innocence and credulity. She related in illustration of her views, several anecdotes to show what apt scholars they had become even with the small advantages they possessed, and among others the following: Prefacing the story with a statement that she herself was destitute of the mathematical faculty, and never could learn the multiplication table or do a sum in simple fractions, she said it happened not long since, in the absence of her husband, that she had occasion to settle with a negro for some wood which Mr. Davis had purchased. The wood was measured and the presumption that there were eight cords, but it fell short of that amount, and she in vain attempted to find the value with pen and paper of the fractional part of a cord. She covered nearly a sheet with figures, but was not satisfied with the result. At last the negro teamster, with great humility, remarked: "missis, your figures are not correct. Let me do dat sum for you." "But do you you know how to cipher, Jimmy?" "Yes, Missis, I does," said Jimmy. She gave him the pen and paper, and Jimmy figured it out in an instant, and at once received his money. "But where did you learn to cipher?" said Mrs. Davis to him. "O, missis," said Jimmy, "Ise a graduate of the high school." Mrs. Davis entertains the opinions of her husband in regard to free labor as being more advantageous than the labor of slaves, and said she would not like for any consideration to return to the old system. Under that system the house servants were a burden upon the housekeeper, and the cost of their maintenance far exceeded in amount the wages paid at present, for a large number required, and the work was not done so well as now. In her religious views and opinions your correspondont believes that the wife of the ex-president of the confederacy is the most orthodox woman that he has ever conversed with. She believes the Bible is the work of God, and there is not a line in the sacred volume from Genesis to Revelation that is not literally true. She has been a reader of Darwin, Tindall, Huxley and other eminent scientists and scholars, but said nothing could shake her faith in every fact and circumstance recorded in the Bible. She never entertained a doubt that the world was made in six days, that the whale swallowed Jonah, and that the sun stood still for the accommodation of Joshua. In discussing this last miracle Mrs. Davis said, in reply to some suggestion of your correspondent: "I can see no difficulty about it at all. If a miracle was to be performed, what mattered it if it did affect the whole solar system as well as this planet which we call earth?" In discussing social topics Mrs. Davis seemed to be impressed with the most intense ideas of caste. When informed by me that one of her old friends, the widow of an ex-senator who was formerly on the most intimate terms with her husband, was living the life of a quiet self-denial, and devoting the whole income of property left by her husband to lift the fallen and encourage the lowly among the young females of this city, Mrs. Davis said it must be a thankless task. She believed that it was of no advantage to try to help such people—that providentially one class of people were placed above another—that one is the complement of the other—and that blood only would tell. Nothwithstanding these aristocratic notions, the whole tenor of our conversation left with me the impression that Mrs. Jefferson Davis is a charming, sensible, Christian woman—that she understands the social and political questions of the times far better than the average of the male sex; and that, like her husband, she has no hopes or aspirations connected with "the lost cause."

A Shot.

Quoth a wise man to a youth one day:
"Tell me your aim in life, I pray."
"A mighty general I'd be,"
Replied the youth, ambitiously.

Then quoth the stripling to the sage;
"Tell me your aim in your old age."
Then said the sage, a little tired:
"Aim? Oh! I have no aim; I've fired."

Some Rare Definitions.

A candidate for a teachers position in San Francisco, sent in the other day a remarkable examination paper. She was asked to spell the following words and give their definitions: Vacillation, hieroglyphics, antideluvian, aphorism, bivouac, codicil, hallucination, inviegle, periphery. She spelled and defined them as follows: Vassilation—the act of being a vassil; hyeroghphics [correct definition]; antediluvian—the art of loosening down before, as it were; aphorism—a rising beforehand; bivouac [was unable to define]; codissel—relating to a code, law or rule; hallusenation—a strange loosening or separation, as it were; inveigle—somewhat strange, unnatural." Several others who were examined spelled and defined some of the words as follows: "Superanuated—the state of being over exerted; bivioue—excitement, gayety; coldicile [couldn't define]; perrifery [couldn't define]; hallucination—act of rejoicing or blessing; bivouac—American fighting." One young lady who received 72½ per cent. defines hallucination as "the condition of being made clear."

Ah! do it kindly 'tis a bad thing,
This gentle ministry to the haunts of Age,
And Youth no higher mission ere should ask,
Than this to light some lone one's pilgrimage.

Think of the weariness which they must feel,
After so many years—and strive to be
Gentle with them, so some young hearts shall deal,
In thy old age, as tenderly with thee.

Friendship.

Friendship is but a silken thread,
Yet so very strong the clasp,
It binds us close to each other
In an enduring grasp,
It makes our lives worth the living.
In this bleak desert here,
And leads us on to realms above;
Fair Heaven! so very near.

THE Chicago Inter-Ocean is at last happy. It has canvassed the county jai of Cook County (Chicago) and finds that it contains 103 Democrats and 27 Republicans. If we could only get a political census of our convicts in this State, we think we could satisfy the Inter-Ocean that the Republican party of this State furnishes nineteen-twentieths of our criminals.

Too Much Reform.

RALEIGH, N. C., April 11, 1879.

Correspondence of the News.

I really think that the matter of reform is going ahead of produce. I saw yesterday Mr. McDonald, the keeper of that beautiful building, the new and elegant postoffice, in our large book-store, making some purchases in his shirt-sleeves. This great government ought not to compel this staff-officer to walk the streets in their official capacity without furnishing at least a cheap black alpaca coat. I learn that Mr. Turner through his counsel has given Mr. McDonald a homestead in the postoffice in the basement, but Mr. White will not agree to it under any circumstances. There ought to be some improvement in front of the postoffice to prevent both white and black from blockading the front steps and, especially, that desk in front of the general delivery office. CITIZEN.

The Y. K. of T. will meet at their Lodge room on Monday night April 14, for the transaction of important business. All members are specially requested to be present.

SABBATH READNIG.

Easter Morning.

Sad on my couch I lay,
Weary with woe and pain,
Longing to see the outer world
And blessed sun again.

Trembling with untold cares,
Weeping with unshed tears,
Counting with hot and quivering lips,
My helpless, hopeless years.

The chime of the Easter bells
Rang on the Winter air,
"There are burdened wretched souls,"
I said,
"And sad hearts everywhere."

Soft on my heated brow,
Came lips like silken floss,
A white hand laid on my coverlet
A picture of the cross.

The cross—but oh, how changed,
Where his dear form had hung,
The fairest flowers of fairest climes,
Their buds and blossoms hung.

So will I strive dear Lord,
To hang my cross with flowers,
And bear their fragrance in my soul,
Through all the weary hours.

Think Again.

Queen Victoria was not twenty years of age when she ascended the throne. Coming into possession of power, with a heart fresh, tender and pure, and with all her instincts inclined to mercy, we may be sure that she found many things that tried her strength of resolution to the utmost. On a bright, beautiful morning, the young queen was waited on at her palace of Windsor by the Duke of Wellington, who had brought from London various papers requiring her signature to render them operative. One of them was a sentence of court-martial, pronounced against a soldier of the line—that he be shot dead! The queen looked upon the paper, and then looked upon the wondrous beauties that nature had spread to her view.

"What has this man done?" she asked.

The Duke looked at the paper, and replied, "Ah, my royal mistress, that man, I fear is incorrigible. He has deserted three times."

"And can you not say something in his behalf, my lord?"

Wellington shook his head.

"Oh, think again, I pray you!"

Seeing that her majesty was so deeply moved, and feeling sure she would not have the man shot in any event, he finally confessed that the man was brave, gallant, and really a good soldier.

"But," he added, "think of the influence!"

"Influence?" cried Victoria, her eyes flashing, and her bosom heaving with strong emotion. "Let it be ours to wield influence. I will try mercy in this man's case; and I charge you, your grace to let me know the result. A good soldier, you said. Oh, I thank you for that! And you may tell him that your good word saved him."

Then she took the paper, and wrote, with a bold firm hand, across the dark page, the bright, saving word—"Pardoned!"

The duke was fond of telling the story, and he was willing also to confess that the giving of that paper to the pardoned soldier gave him far more joy than he could have experienced from the taking of a city.

Jefferson's Ten Rules.

Take things always by the smooth handle. We seldom repent of having eaten too little. Pride costs more than hunger thirst, and cold. Nothing is troublesome that we do willingly. Never spend your money before you have it. Never buy what you don't want because it is cheap. Never trouble another for what you can do yourself. Never put off till to-morrow what you can do to-day. How much pain the evils have cost us that never have happened. When angry count ten before you speak; if very angry count a hundred.

A little blind boy was asked what was the meaning of forgiveness. He replied, "The odor which flowers breathe when trampled upon."

A Beautiful Story.

Coleridge relates a story to this effect:

Alexander, during his march in Africa, came to a people dwelling in peaceful huts, who knew neither war nor conquests. Gold being offered him, he refused it, saying that his sole object was to learn the manners and customs of the inhabitants.

"Stay with us," said the chief "as long as it pleaseth thee."

During this interview with the African chief, two of his subjects brought a case before him for judgment. The dispute was thus: The one had bought a piece of ground, which after the purchase was found to contain a treasure, for which he felt himself bound to pay. The other refused to receive anything, stating that he had sold the ground with what it might be found to contain, apparent or concealed.

Said the chief, looking at the one, "You have a son;" and to the other, "You have a daughter; let them be married, and the treasure given them as a dowry."

Alexander was astonished.

"And what," said the chief, "would have been the decision in your country?"

"We should have dismissed the parties and seized the treasure for the king's use."

"And does the sun shine in your country?" said the chief; "does the rain fall there? Are there any cattle there which feed upon herbs and green grass?

"Certainly," said Alexander.

"Ah," said the chief, "it is for the sake of those innocent cattle that the Great Being permits the sun to shine, the rain to fall and the grass to grow in your country."

The Blessed Task.

I said, "Sweet Master, hear me pray;
For love of Thee the boon I ask;
Give me to do for Thee each day
Some simple, lowly, blessed task."
And listening long, with hope elate,
I only heard Him whisper, "wait."

The days went by, but nothing brought
Beyond the wonted round of care,
And I was vexed with anxious thought,
And found the waiting hard to bear;
But when I said, "In vain I pray!"
I heard him answer gently, "Nay."

So praying still and waiting on,
And pondering what the waiting meant,
This knowledge sweet at last I won—
And oh the depth of my content!
My blessed task for every day
Is humbly, gladly to obey.

And though I daily, hourly fail
To bring my task to Him complete,
And must with constant tears bewail
My failures at my Master's feet,
No other service would I ask
Than this my blessed, blessed task.

DAILY NEWS

HUSSEY & JORDAN, PROPRIETORS

JOHN B. HUSSEY, - - Editor.

SUNDAY, - - - APRIL 13, 1879.

THE trial of Talmage of Brooklyn has turned out to be a most amusing farce—like the services in Talmage's church. There has been an immense and uproarious audience during the proceedings, which the Presbytery, which calls itself "the Court of Jesus Christ," has been entirely unable to control. The trustees of the church in which the session held have filed a protest, alleging that the "riotous crowd" have broken the pews and "two treadles of the organ," "written numerous scurrilous and indecent things in hymn-books and the backs of seats," and "have been heard to threaten the destruction of an oil-painting hanging in the church parlor." The sympathies of this crowd have been all with the defendant, and they greeted him with thunders of applause whenever he rose, as he has several times done, to "hurl defiance" at his foes. The counsel on both sides are ministers, and their discussions have been acrimonious beyond anything known at the secular bar, in courts of record at least. One gentleman has had to accuse his adversary of "aiming a poisoned lance at the very centre of his moral being," an outrage never witnessed in temporal tribunals. The attempts to maintain the gravity suitable to an ecclesiastical court have been comically unsuccessful. No witnesses were ever funnier than the managing editor and publisher of Talmage's old paper, the Christian at work, one of the charges being that when Talmage was "the Christian" of that periodical, part of "his work" consisted in cheating his partners. There was one very ludicrous scene, when the Moderator tried during one of the pauses in the middle of the drollery to have a hymn sung. The opening lines of that which was suggested, "Blest be the tie that binds," fairly brought down the house, and a suggestion of the Lord's Prayer was equally mirth-producing. But nothing excited so much merriment as the Moderator's proposal that, on the failure of the hymns, they should pass a few moments in "secret silence." This was more than the audience could bear, and they doubled themselves up with laughter.

WHAT is probably alarming the negroes in the South, is the accounts which have been circulated amongst them of the evils which are likely to befall them now that the Democrats have secured control of Congress. If the Stalwart reports of their condition during the past ten years, however, were true, nothing the Democrats could now do would have any terrors for them. Senator Dawes told the people of Massachusetts in 1876 that there was not a negro at the South who did not fear when he went to bed at night that he would have his throat cut or his cabin burnt before morning. The New York Times says that for a long time past Christmas Day and election law—that is, two days in the year—"have been appropriated (by the Southern whites) for the sole purpose of killing 'peart niggers'"; the other days of the year being reserved for "robbery and personal violence." Moreover, we learn from the same paper that during recent years, while the negroes have been raising these tremendous crops of cotton and sugar, the whites "gambled, drank whiskey, and improved their skill as marksmen by shooting offhand at a servant who did not please them." One would think that a laboring man who was murdered regularly on Christmas day and election day, and was robbed and assaulted on other days, besides occasionally serving as a drunken man's rifle, would have little to fear in this world from any change in the Government.

Nowhere else in the world have railway engineers to fight against the adverse conditions which beset railway communications in upper India, except, perhaps, on the Baroda and Bombay line. The rivers of the Punjaub are as captious as spoiled children. They shift their course with every rainy season. A splendid bridge is built across what seems the confirmed bed of a river. Next year that river abandons the channel over which the bridge has been thrown, leaves the great bridge spanning a mere rivulet, and carves for itself another channel elsewhere, sweeping away a slice of railway embankment, for which a bridge must be substituted, until, with the necessity for accommodating the fitful caprices of the snow-fed streams, the whole railway system of a large section of the Punjaub threatens to become one large bridge. In the season of the floods the officials of the railway company need to sleep with one eye open, and to live with their lives in their hands. The beds of these Punjaub rivers are littered with ponderous and costly iron work, girders, columns, etc., brought out from England, and now lost irrevocably in the all but fathomless quicksands which stud the river beds.

THE RESULT of the Cincinnati election is perfectly satisfactory to the Democratic Washington Post. It proves, according to the Post, that Hamilton county is Democratic, and whenever that county is Democratic the Legislature is Democratic. That would secure a Democratic senator as a successor to Judge Thurman. The same vote cast last fall for Sayler would have given him 700 majority over his Republican competitor. It was a gain over last fall of 2,300 votes and a gain over the preceding municipal election of over 1,400. It was 2,000 votes more than were given to Gov. Bishop in 1877. It was a larger vote than was ever given to a Democratic candidate for mayor. Had the Republicans cast in 1876 no more votes than on Monday for Jacob, the State would have gone for the Democrats in October and for Tilden as against Hayss. Whenever the Germans have been appealed to as a nationality, Hamilton county has been carried by the Republicans by from 3,000 to 4,000 majority. This time they voted solidly for Jacob and yet are in a minority—estimating the vote in the county the same as last year—of quite 1,200. Harris, the Democratic candidate for mayor, is beaten by 364 votes, and that is the only disagreeable feature about the late election in Cincinnati.

THERE are at present 66½ miles of finished railways in Japan, 142¾ miles laid out, with working plans, sections, and estimates completed, and 455 miles projected, the general route only having been examined and decided upon. The earthworks of the existing lines have been made for a double way, and the bridges for a single way. The permanent way is of double-headed 60 lb. rails on the Yeddo-Yokohama and Kobe-Osaka lines; but on the Osaka-Kiota line 60 lb. flat bottomed rails on cross sleepers are used. The superstructure of the smaller bridges was originally of timber, but has been renewed with iron. The larger bridges are all of the Warren girder type, and as a rule of 100 feet spans. The foundations are on brick wells 12 feet in diameter, and on an average about 60 feet deep. The chief difficulty experienced by railway engineers in Japan arises from the nature of the watershed. The beds of the rivers are nearly all higher than the surrounding country, varying from a few feet to 40 feet or more. In some instances the railway has been taken under the rivers by tunneling. As a rule, however, the rivers were bridged over, and approached by steep gradients and high embankments.

IN a review of an American work on railway service, the London Iron says: We do not allow for a moment that the Americans have beaten Old England either in engineering skill or in sound financial management in railway matters; yet there are a hundred things in either department in which our people may derive benefit from the splendid success and by rail from London to Inverness or Holyhead without an amount of fatigue and discomfort which would not be experienced in journeys thrice the length in the States; and we hope that our companies at home will in time endeavor to assimilate traveling conveniences a little more to that which in America the length of way has forced upon the great lines of railroad. It is small consolation that to many lines on the continent of Europe, in speed, comfort, safety from robbers, our railway trains are incomparably superior; nothing that the Americans have adopted should be overlooked in our longer lines, whether at home or in India or Canada.

POLITICIANS who are urging the poor blacks to start for Kansas, either for purpose of comforting the "bloody-shirt" view of Southern society or for the purpose, as one writer has frankly avowed, of causing the loss of fifteen representatives to the South at the next census, nevertheless have a great deal to answer for. The bulk of the emigrants appear to be able to get no farther than St. Louis, or, if they reach Kansas at all, will enter it as paupers. Kansas, too, according to all the best accounts, has already more white labor than it can pay for, and is all prepared to undertake the maintenance of a large body of destitutute negroes, particularly as it does not need their votes, the State being already overwhelmingly Republican.

NO ONE will suspect Mr. Wm. E. Chandler or Mr. George C. Gorham of any but a political purpose in sending agents to the South to promote negro emigration; nor need their designs be as far reaching as the depopulation of the South before the next census is taken, to make their motives perfectly intelligible. We hear also of a Boston "National Farmers' Association" having in view the colonization of Northwestern Texas with negroes from the other Southern States, and the ultimate erection of a separate State. Its circulars or tracts, addressed to the freedmen, declare in the wildest terms that they "must emigrate, fight, or perish." Nothing could be more pernicious than such counsel coming from a land and railroad speculation.

The Gold and Stock Telegraph Company, in its answer filed in the suit brought against it by the Bell Telephone Company, sets up the general claim that the telephone is not a new invention, and that Gray was the prior inventor. The Boston case, it is thought will reach trial by May. The Bell Telephone Company has obtained injunctions against several smaller manufacturers of telephones, and suits against others are pending. The company is turning out 1,5000 telephones a month, and orders are so numerous that many are more or less delayed. There are now 17,500 instruments out, and 15,000 actually rented. Instruments are supplied principally to telephonic exchanges, which are being rapidly introduced into all the larger cities.

BLAINE, seeing that the bayonet will inevitably be bounced from the polls, has, with characteristic energy, drawn up an amendment to the bill forbidding anybody who has a deadly weapon about his person to come within a mile of a place of voting. That is a very good idea. It is a pity Mr. Blaine was not so anxious to have peaceful and honest election some years ago.

At the begining of 1878, according to Poor's Manual there were 79,208 miles of railroad in the country. The addition of 2,088 miles is equal to 3½ per cent. According to this there are 81,896 miles of railway in the country at this time. Estimating a population of 48,000,000, this gives about 585 inhabitants per mile of railroad, a much smaller number than in any other country on the globe.

"FEDELRAL laws are under the absolute and supreme control of Federal authority and must be enforced by Federal officials," not State officials as the NEWS misprinted Capt. KITCHIN'S speech. The error was one that naturally suggested the correction to the average reader.

IT IS stated that faro was introduced into this country by Gen. Lafayette. Minister Schenck took a terrrible revenge when he presented the advantages of draw-poker to the attention of the Europeans.

SO FAR 2,760 colored emigrants have passed through St. Louis for Kansas, and 250 others are now in that city, unable to obtain transportation for want of means.

TUTT'S PILLS

are especially adapted to such cases, a single dose effects such a change of feeling as to astonish the sufferer.

A NOTED DIVINE SAYS:

Dr. TUTT:—Dear Sir: For ten years I have been a martyr to Dyspepsia, Constipation and Piles. Last Spring your Pills were recommended to me. Used them (not in all faith). I am now a well man, have good appetite, digestion perfect, regular stools, piles gone, and I have gained forty pounds solid flesh. They are worth their weight in gold.

REV. R. L. SIMPSON, Louisville, Ky.

The first effect of TUTT'S PILLS is to Increase the Appetite, and cause the body to Take on Flesh, thus the system is nourished, and by their Tonic Action on the Digestive Organs, Regular Stools are produced.

Dr. J. F. HAYWOOD, OF NEW YORK, SAYS:—

"Few diseases exist that cannot be relieved by restoring the Liver to its normal functions, and for this purpose no remedy has ever been invented that has as happy an effect as TUTT'S PILLS."

Ayer's

Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous, and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit, but not harm it. If wanted merely for a nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

HAIR DRESSING,

Stronach & Allcott have just received a car loads of hay, and a large lot of meal, which they will sell lower than the lowest.

Dread and despair fall upon the community when a terrible epidemic, like the cholera or yellow fever, suddenly desolates our homes; yet, all the while, a more insidious, but no less fatal foe, enters thousand of households every year and carries off the flower of the family in the early flush of manly youth and budding womanhoods People call it presumption, or "decline." It is not, in most cases, the hereditary phthisis or consumption of the lungs, which is the peculiar malady in climates like those of the British Islands and New England, but a general decay or arrest of the vital processes of nutrition. All the doctors agree that there is no remedy for this but COD LIVER OIL, but they are constantly met by the obstacle of inability on the part of the patient to swallow or retain it. This repulsion is entirely vercome by SCOTT'S EMULSION OF THE H. with the HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME N D SODA which is agreeable to the taste nd an une ed nutrient and tonic for the ody nerv d brain.

POLICE YOUR PREMISES!

Attention is called to Sections 3d and 4th, Chapter IX, City Ordinances, relating to nuisances.

THE GENUINE

DR. C. McLANE'S

Celebrated American

WORM SPECIFIC

OR

VERMIFUGE.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

THE countenance is pale and leaden-colored, with occasional flushes, or a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eye-lid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach, at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy, not unfrequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; respiration occasionally difficult, and accompanied by hiccough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable, &c.

Whenever the above symptoms are found to exist,

DR. C. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE will certainly effect a cure.

IT DOES NOT CONTAIN MERCURY in any form; it is an innocent preparation, not capable of doing the slightest injury to the most tender infant.

The genuine DR. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrapper. —:o:—

DR. C. McLANE'S

LIVER PILLS

are not recommended as a remedy "for all the ills that flesh is heir to," but in affections of the liver, and in all Bilious Complaints, Dyspepsia and Sick Headache, or diseases of that character, they stand without a rival.

AGUE AND FEVER.

No better cathartic can be used preparatory to, or after taking Quinine.

As a simple purgative they are unequaled.

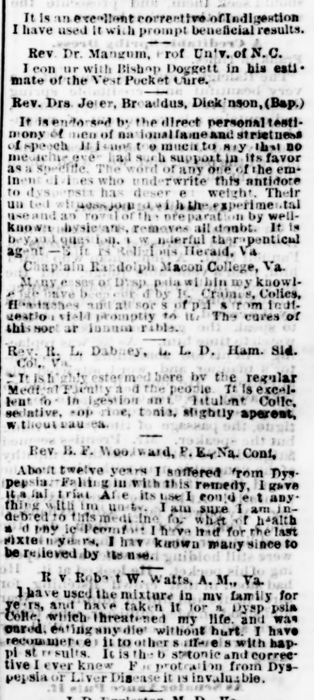
BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

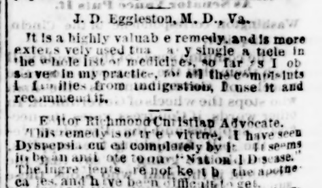
The genuine are never sugar coated.

Each box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

Each wrapper bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS.

Insist upon having the genuine Dr. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.





It is an excellent corrective of Indigestion I have used it with prompt beneficial results.

Rev. Dr. Mangum, Prof Univ. of N. C.

I concur with Bishop Doggett in his estimate of the Vest Pocket Cure.

Rev. Drs. Jeter, Broaddus, Dickinson, (Bap.)

It is endorsed by the direct personal testimony of men of national fame and strictness of speech. It has not to mince its way that no medicine ever had such support in its favor as a specific. The word of any one of the eminent divines who underwrite this antidote to dyspepsia has deser e weight. Their united witness, supported by the experimental use and approval of the people by well-known physicians, removes all doubt. It is beyond question a wonderful therapeutical agent.—Southern Religious Herald, Va.

Chaplain Randolph Macon College, Va.

Many cases of Dyspepsia of him my knowledge have been cured by it. Crudes, Colics, Headaches and all sorts of pain from indigestion yield promptly to it. The cures of this sort are famous Fables.

Rev. R. L. Dabney, D. D., Ham. Sid. Col., Va.

It is highly esteemed here by the regular Medical Faculty and the people. It is excellent for indigestion and flatulent Colic, sedative, corrective, tonic, slightly aperient, without nausea.

Rev. B. F. Woodward, P. E., Va. Conf.,

About twelve years I suffered from Dyspepsia. Failing in with this remedy, I gave it a fair trial. After its use I could eat anything with impunity. I am sure I am indebted to this medicine for what of health and enjoyment I have had for the last sixteen years. I have known many since to be relieved by its use.

Rev. Robert W. Watts, A. M., Va.

I have used the mixture in my family for years, and have taken it for a Dyspepsia Colic, which threatened my life, and was cured, failing any diet without hurt. I have recommended it to others suffering with happy results. It is the best stomachic and corrective I ever knew. For protection from Dyspepsia or Liver Disease it is invaluable.

J. D. Eggleston, M. D., Va.

It is a highly valuable remedy, and is more extensively used than any single article in the whole list of medicines, so far as I observed in my practice, for all the complaints it professes from indigestion. Use it and recommend it.

Editor Richmond Christian Advocate.

This remedy is truly a virtue. I have seen Dyspepsia cured completely by it. It seems in by an antidote to that "National Disease." The bitters are not known by the name of Cordiales and have been illustrated to get.

DAILY NEWS

SUNDAY, [illegible] APRIL 18, 1879.

No Time Like the Present.

Now is the time to buy goods cheap, at Law's "china and silver" warehouse. We must reduce our enormous stock before the dull summer months, and to parties wishing triple-plated casters, forks, spoons, &c., china, cutlery or glassware we have special bargains to offer. Call early and get prices or send for price list before buying elsewhere.

Gun and Locksmiths.

Brockwell & King, near the rear of the U. S. Court House, on Salisbury street, are prepared to repair in first-class style, Breech-loading and Muzzle-loading Shot Guns and fire arms of every description. They also repair Door Locks, Trunk Locks, and locks of all patterns, Umbrellas, Parasols, Flu ting machines, and everything in the line of small hardware, either brass, steel or iron. Sign and bell hanging a specialty. Orders from a distance will receive special attention. Keys fitted w residences on short notice. All work atarranted.

Particular Notice.

Business men and others in need of Book and Job Printing of any kind should remember that the NEWS Job Office is the place to have it done neatly, cheaply and at the shortest notice.

Our country is getting to be fearfully alarming, the average of life being lessened every year, without any reasonable cause, death resulting generally from the most insignificant organ. At this season of the year especially, a cold is such a common thing that in the hurry of every day life we are apt to overlook the dangers attending it and often find too late that a fever or lung trouble has already set in. Thousands lose their lives in this way every winter, while had Boschee's German Syrup been taken, a cure would have resulted, and a large bill from a doctor been avoided. For all diseases of the throat and lungs, Boschee's German Syrup has proved itself to be the greatest discovery of its kind in medicine. Every Druggist in this country will tell you of its wonderful effect. Over 950,000 bottles sold last year without a single failure known.

A Remedy that has been Remedied.

The invincible repugnance felt by almost every one to the smell and flavor of Cod Liver Oil, has prevented tens of thousands of the victims of debility from reaping the benefits of its peculiar healing and nutritive properties. The almost hopeless consumptive, the martyr to Rheumatism, the barely living shadow of men, women and children that emerge from the clutches of malarial fevers, all of these know, or at least their doctors know, that of all discovered remedies, this Oil is the best and often the only one that will build up their wasted bodies, and restore their shattered nerves, and far more effectively than the Oil by itself is Scott's Emulsion of it, with the Hypophosphites of lime and Soda. This is the finest and most natural food and medicine in the world, and wholly deprived of its disagreeable qualities. Sold by Wm. Simpson, Druggist.

MEDICINES.

LIVER

This important organ weighs but about three pounds, and all the blood in a living person about three gallons; passes through it at least once every half hour, to have the bile and other impurities strained or filtered from it. Bile is the natural purgative of the bowels, and if the Liver becomes torpid it is not separated from the blood, but carried through the veins to all parts of the system, and in trying to escape through the pores of the skin, causes it to turn yellow or a dirty brown color. The stomach becomes diseased, and Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation, Headache, Biliousness, Jaundice, Chills, Malarial Fevers, Piles, Sick and Sour Stomach, and general debility follow. MERRELL'S HEPATINE, the great vegetable discovery for torpidity, causes the Liver to throw off from one to two ounces of bile each time the blood passes through it, as long as there is an excess of bile; and the effect of even a few doses upon yellow complexion or a brown dirty looking skin, will astonish all who try it—they being the first symptoms to disappear. The cure of all bilious diseases and Liver complaint is made certain by taking HEPATINE in accordance with directions. Headache is generally cured in twenty minutes, and no disease that arises from the Liver can exist if a fair trial is given.

SOLD AS A SUBSTITUTE FOR PILLS BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

GLOBE FLOWER SYRUP.

LUNGS

The fatality of Consumption or Throat and Lung Diseases, which sweep to the grave at least one-third of all death's victims, arises from the Opium or Morphine treatment, which simply stupefies as the work of death goes on. $10,000 will be paid if Opium or Morphine, or any preparation of Opium, Morphine or Prussic Acid, can be found in the GLOBE FLOWER COUGH SYRUP, which has cured people who are living to-day with but one remaining lung. No greater wrong can be done than to say that Consumption is incurable. GLOBE FLOWER COUGH SYRUP will cure it when all other means have failed. Also, Colds, Cough, Asthma, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the throat and lungs. Read the testimonials of the Hon Alexander H. Stephens, Gov. Smith and ExGov Brown of Ga., Hon. Geo Peabody, as well as those of other remarkable cures in our book, free to all at the drug stores, and be convinced that if you wish to be cured you can be by taking the GLOBE FLOWER COUGH SYRUP. Take no Troches or Lozenges for Sore Throat, when you can get GLOBE FLOWER SYRUP at same price. For sale by all Druggists.

STILLINGIA.

BLOOD

Grave mistakes are made in the treatment of all diseases that arise from poison in the blood. Not one case of Scrofula, Syphilis, White Swelling, Ulcerous Sores and Skin Diseases in a thousand, is treated without the use of Mercury in some form. Mercury ons the bones, and the diseases it produces are worse than any other kind of blood or skin disease can be. DR. PEMBERTON'S STILLINGIA AND QUEEN'S DELIGHT is the only [illegible] hope of recovery for [illegible] Syphilitic or Mercurial diseases [illegible] scientifically founded, and [illegible] Cure.

The Coming Comet.

A comet is approaching the earth, and can be seen with a telescope. It moves in an illiptical orbit, within a period of five and a half years, and its appearance was noted only thirty-three years ago, and its present appearance is the seventh time that it has been recorded. It was nearest the earth the 10th of April, at a computed distance of about 75,000,000 of miles, so that there is not the slightest prospect of collision. It has never receded from the earth much further than the planet Jupiter. In 1851 it escaped observation, but in 1857 it was seen rising inthe extreme southern horizon, reaching a brightness bringing it within easy observation with the opera glass, and finally disappeared in the southern sky.

Value of Confederate Money.

We copy the following extract from an exchange, as of interest to those holding these notes: 'Confederate money issued in 1861 is eagerly sought after by 'curiosity' hunters; notes issued at Montgomery, Ala., of the denominations of $50, $100, $500 and $1,000, being the rarest. A set of these notes will readily sell for $100 in gold. Next in value are the notes engraved by the 'Southern Bank Note Company' in 1861. One of these—a twenty dollar note—with the engraving representing a female riding a deer is worth its face value in gold. Some of those issues of 1862 are worth something; but after that year the issue of Confederate States money is scarcely worth preserving.

Report of the Y. M. C. A.

Below will be found a report of the Association for the past winter. In consequence of the death of several of our most prominent and liberal citizens the amount received has been smaller than usual. Prominent among the names of our most liberal supporters was the Hon. B. F. Moore, who was indeed a friend to the poor.

The Association has been sustained by the contributions of fifty-seven persons, amounting to two hundred and forty-three dollars. A generous donation of wood was also given by several gentlemen. The amount of wood delivered has been two hundred and thirty four loads. The same amount of wood bought on the streets would cost four hundred dollars. Out of the two hundred and forty-three dollars received, fifty dollars were expended for rations, leaving one hundred and ninety-three dollars for which over two hundred two-horse loads of wood were bought and delivered. It is hoped that the citizens will examine these figures and ascertain whether or not their money has been disposed of in an economical and just way. During the severe winter many a home of the helpless poor has been made cheerful by the glowing fire, many an appetite quenched by the generous donations of our citizens.

Live and Bold.

Tarboro Southerner.

The Raleigh News is a gay and festive old girl in her new Spring dress from top to toe. She's a brainy old thing too, live and bold.

Personal.

John Gatling, Esq., has gone to Charleston, S. C., on business.

W. B. Fort, Esq., of Fremont, and A. W. Grahan, Esq., of Hillsboro, were in the city yesterday.

Mr. P. M. Briggs and family have moved to Durham, and will pursue the practice of his profession, the law.

A Steer on His Ear.

Mr. Blalock had a mooly steer. The same was full of muscle, corn and fodder. Said Mr. Blalock, "that steer was so docile and kind; not a vicious trick about him. He sometimes would frolic and firsk about, but there was nothing mean about Mooly. It seemed like he hated to part with him." But times were hard and money scarce, and to the market poor mooly must go. Early in the morn, started they to town, Mr. Blalock, mooly and Jim; and nothing did occur till they reached the postoffice door of this beautiful city of oaks. Now mooly was a steer. That nothing did fear, he was raised on Blalock's good cheer, and to him the farmer was dear; so as soon as he did hear, the din on his ear, and the sound of the small boy's jeer, immediately he got queer, and angry at their lear, and proceeded to business at once. He quietly put his head under the seat of a lad who was walking beside a cart; straight up in the air, like a dart, he shot, and over in the gulley he fell. The steer was again on his ear, and straightway went for those near, who quickly had gathered at the sight of the boy so suddenly tossed in the air.

Swayed they too and fro, this way and that way did they go, 'til Jim, with a grin, caught the rope that tied the hind leg of the beligerent ox.

The crowd was big, two hnudred or more pressed close to see, the feats, of the steer on the streets. An hour was spent, before to market he went, but finally, a trade, was made, and mooly—poor mooly, where that cow was? Yesterday you saw him, today you seen him no more.

All gone down mit de beebles.

R. N. Mitchell.

A reporter of the NEWS visited, yesterday, the workshops of Mr. R. N. Mitchell, and found him and his workmen hard at work making boilers to complete a contract of six plantation boilers for Mr. W. F. Kornegay, of Goldsboro. Mr. Mitchell served an apprenticeship of five years with the celebrated Baldwin Locomotive Works, Philadelphia, and completed his term of apprenticeship in 1862, having received a certificate from his employers, of a first-class workmanship. He then went to Linden, Vermont: and as manager of the Locomotive works at that place, constructed, in four years, thirteen locomotive boilers. He then returned to Philadelphia, and, for two years as manager, had charge of a large boiler-making establishment.

From Philadelphia he came to Raleigh, and has made, since he came here, one hundred and twenty-five boilers, among which were two fifty-horse-powers for the Insane Asylum; two fifty-horse-power for W. T. Blackwell & Co., of Durham; one thirty-five-horse power for Ellington Rowster & Co; he put up and rivetted the large iron water tank in the United States Building, and is now engaged in the erection, at the Penitentiary, of a stack eighty-five feet high, made of heavy boiler iron, to convey foul air from the sewer pipe through the top of the building. Under a contract with Col. Hicks, Superintendent, he constructed, at the Penitentiary, with convict labor, six heavy iron cages for the jail of Chatham county, conveyed them to Pittsboro and put them up. It is believed that in strength and construction those cages are unsurpassed by any in the State, or United States.

In the fall of '78 Mr. Mitchell had his extensive work shops erected, and has every facility for manufacturing any kind of boiler, locomotive, horizontal, tubular and upright, including an upright boiler of his own design—from one to one hundred horse-power. He is also prepared to do the most difficult and heavy forging, and has executed a most difficult job for Mr. Geo. R. Sledge, of Warrenton. All his work has given satisfaction, and he refers to his patrons above named. Any one needing work in his line would do well to give him a trial, as he is worthy of patronage.

Gen. Grant's travels around the world are to be published, with illustrations. John Russell Young is to be the editor.

Mr. Jervis McEntire, a Boston artists is painting a series of twelve striking portraits of his friend, Edwin Booth, in the characters in which the actor is famous.

Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, as Chaplain of the Thirteenth Regiment, has invited William M. Evarts to accompany the regiment to Canada, May 22, to celebrate the Queen's birthday, and Evarts has accepted.

Rev. Dr. Ingram, who died at Shetland recently, was doubtless the oldest minister in the world. He was 103 years old, says the Philadelphia Times. At Andros, one of the islands of the Greek Archipelago, there are over a dozen priests who have passed the 106th year of their age.

Dr. McCosh, the president of Princeton College, has just become a citizen of the United States, his naturalization papers having been issued by Judge Nixon on Tuesday.

Cardinal McCloskey's residence, at the northwest corner of Madison avenue and Thirty-sixth street, New York, was sold on Tuesday for $60,000, and a house probably be built for him near the Cathedral.

Edwin Booth and family have fixed their permanent home in Madison avenue, New York. Mr. Booth's daughter, Edwina, is a young lady of seventeen, who still pursues her course of studies under the direction of a governess.

The Empress of Austria suddenly quitted Ireland on hearing of the disastrous floods at Szegedin. The crowds were so great at the stations where she took the train and left it that she had difficulty in making her way to and from.

Lord Beaconsfield is said to be looking wofully aged and very frail. He has a way in Parliament of sitting very still in an apparent lethargy for a long time; then he suddenly starts up and makes a vigorous speech, to the great astonishment of the house.

"The man who attempts to get up a political excitement in this country on the old sectional issues will find himself without a party."—Garfield last session.

"Eighteen years ago the Democratic party said to the Republicans: 'If you elect the man of your choice as President we will shoot your Government to death.'" You now declare that if we do not consent against our will to let you tear certain laws out of the statute book you will starve the Government to death."—Garfield last week.

GARFIELD and Hayes, in 1867, both declared that they would not vote a dollar to carry on the Government unless President Johnson signed the army appropriation bill with the bayonet law tacked on it. The Republicans announced at that time that a President who would veto the legislation of the majority in Congress, in whatever shape it might come to him, should be impeached for treason.

DIPHTHERIA is prevailing to a remarkable extent all over the world. In this country it has exhibited itself in a malignant form North, South, East and West. It has shown itself in nearly every country of Europe, and in Russia its ravages have been more fatal than the plague. This disease, which rarely occurs except as an epidemic, has only been known in this country within the last twenty-five years, except in the way of occasional sporadic cases. It has not yet been settled whether the disease is communicable by infection or contagion, or whether the parasitic fungus frequently found in the false membrane is the cause of the disease or only its product.

PROFESSOR LOOMIS continues his experiments in the mountains of West Virginia to demonstrate his theory that at certain elevations there is a natural electric current, by taking advantage of which telegraphic messages may be sent without the use of wire. It is said that he has telegraphed as far as eleven miles by means of kites flown with copper wires. When the kites reached the same current, communication by means of an instrument similar to the Morse instrument was easy, but ceased as soon as one of the kites was lowered. He has built towers on two hills about twenty miles apart, and from the tops of them has run up steel rods into the region of the electric current.

"Oh tell me, Leander," she said,
"Now what would you do were I dead?"
The warm glance of her eye
Begged some tender reply,
And she blushed as she hung down her head.

"I'd remember thee always, dear Jane,"
Then, biting the head of his cane,
He added in this suddening strain:
" For, darling: you see
I never could be
Such a fool as to marry again.',
—Andrew's Bazar.

In the lives of the saddest of us there are bright days, when we feel as if we could take the great world in our arms. Then come the gloomy hours, when the fire will neither burn on our hearths nor in our hearts; and all without and within are dismal, cold and dark.

Believe me, every heart has its secret sorrows which the world knows not, and oftentimes we call a man cold when he is only sad. LONGFELLOW.

"Is it possible that Mr. Godfres is up and at work, and cured by so simple a remedy?"

"I assure you it is true that he is entirely cured, and with nothing but Hop Bitters; and only ten days ago his doctors gave him up and said he must die!"

"Well-a-day! That is remarkable! I will go this day and get some for my poor George—I know hops are good."

The Greatest Blessing.

A simple, pure, harmless remedy, that cures every time, and prevents disease by keeping the blood pure, stomach regular, kidneys and liver active, is the greatest blessing ever conferred upon man. Hop Bitters is that remedy, and its proprietors are being blessed by thousands who have been saved and cured by it. Will you try it? See another column.

Between Raleigh and Pittsboro, April 9th, a little red pocket-book containing about $100 and a note for $450, with a payment of $100. The finder will be liberally rewarded if left at this office.

Horace Greeley's bad penmanship has passed into a proverb. No description of it without a fac-simile of the writing could convey any idea of its illegibility. It is charitable, however, to the old philosopher to suppose that the fault lay with the pens he had been accustomed to use, but what a world of grief and trouble would have been saved to the compositors if he hd written his editorials witheran Eastabrook Falcon Pen.

The Celebrated Seven Springs Iron and Alum Mass.

This is decidedly the most useful, besides being the most efficient Family Medicine ever placed within the reach of any people. Its reputation extends far and wide, and its great popularity is due entirely to its own merits. For relieving Sick and Nervous Headache, it may be truly said, to have no equal. Dyspeptics find it just the remedy for their troubles. Mothers and daughters have long since discovered in its use a "panacea" for their worst ills; and now we have the testimonies of two eminent ministers of the gospel, from Southern cities, setting forth its specific effects in other more dreaded and troublesome diseases.

Rev. John F. Mayne, Theological Seminary, Columbia, S. C., writes: "Am afflicted with that terrible disease, 'Diabetes;' am using the 'Seven Springs Mass' with a considerable degree of relief; is the only remedy I have yet found to suit my case; want to continue its use until a cure is effected if possible. Send worth of the enclosed P. O. order immediately.

JNO. F. MAYNE.

Columbia, S. C., Jan. 23d, 1879.

Rev. J. D. Parker, of New Orleans, La., writes: "Having tried effectually the 'Seven Springs Iron and Alum Mass,' for Diarhea, Kidney afflictions, &c., I take pleasure in recommending its use in these complaints. In my case it affords immediate relief.

J. D. PARKER."

Make Your Own Fertilizer.

With ten dollars worth of chemicals, which I will furnish in proper proportions for one ton of fertilizer, added to such materials as every farmer has in abundance around the farm, he can make a ton of fertilizer equal to the best high priced fertilizer on the market.

It is recommended by leading farmers, such as Mr. Wm. Grimes, J. T. Leach and others whose testimonials I have.

Unheard of Bargains!

Who tries his best to please his friends
And in his labors never ends,
Bargains he'll give you when you call
For No. 10 is all and all.
Of other houses you hear them talk;
In Fayetteville street just take a walk
And only ask for No. 10,
Kept by the most ingenious of men,
And when his friends by chance drop in
Then forth he comes, Lord what a grin,
And to their wondering eyes displays
Such heaps of brackets and window shades.
His pictures are exposed to public view
And a variety of cord to suspend them too,
His looking glasses and toilet cases
Will help adorn your forms and faces;
Picture frames and mouldings too
In great variety, black, brown and blue.
His window cornices and lambrequins fine,
Will make your rooms and parlor shine,
Perforated mottoes, and white holly baskets.
And every other sort of stuff,
Of which he hopes to have enough.
So now he bids you all adieu
And wishes a happy new year too,
And not forget

Poetry.

Alone, I've yet one solace left,
Which cheers my broken heart,
And in that thought a thousand hopes
Come springing into birth.
How beautiful the vision seems,
Amidst life's troubled cares,
To drink a glass of good champagne
And smoke MENDEL'S cigars.

REMARKABLE cure of an inflamed ear duct or passage to the eye, without an operation.—Mrs. Gibson, who has a large an extensive confectionery and candy store No. 25 East 42d Street, near the Grand Central Depot was about to have a slit tube inserted in the tear passage of her left eye. The enlargement and inflamation were very great. Before submitting to the operation, tried Dr. Gil's Liniment, rubbing carefully over the inflamed duct. The inflamation disappeared, the passage became clear, and was through its power able to do without a surgical operation. Also took the liniment internally, a teaspoonful three times a day, in a wine glass of water. Sold by all druggists.
